Weekly K. C. Star Editor to Speak at "Visiting Day"

W. A. Cochel and Governor Futrell at Experiment Farm June 29

A NOTED LECTURER

Cochel One of Most Widely Known American Farm Editors

Arrangements have been completed for the annual visiting day program to be held at the University of Arkansas, College of Agriculture, Fruit & Truck Branch Experiment Station, near Hope, Friday, June 29. It was announced Thursday by G. W. Ware, assistant director in charge of the station.

Governor J. M. Futrell and W. A. Cochel, editor of the Weekly Kansas City Star have accepted invitations to make the principal addresses on the general afternoon program, which will be held in the outdoor auditorium. Mr. Cochel is widely known as a farm editor and lecturer, having appeared before farm groups throughout the nation.

Others on Program
Others attending with the program includes Miss Connie J. Bonslagel, state home demonstration agent; T. Roy Reid, assistant director; E. B. Whitaker, district agent; W. G. Armstrong, extension horticulturist; J. H. Hogman, extension agronomist; K. B. DeQueen, all of the extension service; and J. R. Cooper and Martin Nelson of the college of agriculture.

The all day program includes interesting features for both men and women visitors. The morning will be spent in a ride around the three miles of fields, embracing experiments in fruit, truck and field crops. J. L. Wright, district agent, with the assistance of a dozen agriculturists will be stationed on the various experiments to discuss results and make recommendations.

The noon hour will be devoted to an entertainment program. Visitors are requested to bring their lunch, but those preferring to obtain same on the grounds at a nominal cost. The station is making preparation for the largest crowd of visitors in its history. Additional seats are being obtained and a loud speaker address system has been engaged for the convenience of the audience and speakers.

Negro Program
As has been the custom in past years, the annual negro visiting meeting will be held the following day, Saturday, June 30. The program will include a visit over the farm in the morning, picnic dinner at noon, and an educational speaking program in the afternoon. Those appearing on the program are H. C. Royal, local district agent; W. O. Wilson, president Shorter College; C. S. Woodard, dean M. N. College and J. A. Harris, vocational instructor. Practical demonstrations in vegetable growing, canning, storage and other useful subjects will be given. A large crowd is expected to attend.

James S. Steel, of Lockesburg, Dead

A Circuit Judge, as His Father Was, and as Son Now Is

TEXARKANA, Ark.—(AP)—Judge James S. Steel, 86, orator of the Arkansas bar and second of a lineal trio of circuit judges, died Wednesday at Lockesburg.

Judge Steel was a native of Sevier county and son of Judge T. G. T. Steel of a still earlier day in Arkansas history. The descent of circuit judgeship from grandfather to father to son is probably unique in Southern court annals. Judge Steel rose from prosecutor to the bench and served for many years. His son, Judge A. P. Steel, now holds the same office.

Three sons survive in addition to Judge A. P. Steel. They are: George J., former prosecuting attorney, and assistant attorney general; Tom Steel of Tulsa, Oklahoma, and James K. Steel of Oklahoma City. A daughter, Mrs. Lydia White, Lockesburg, also survives along with a sister, Mrs. Fannie Collins, DeQueen. Funeral services will be held at Lockesburg at 2 p. m. Friday.

Plea to Correct Dangerous Paving Dip on East Third

Rotary Club Endorses Repair Job in Letter to Mayor and Council

TOURIST IS INJURED

California Woman Is Thrown Against Car Top by Bad Bump

A plea for correction of the rough and dangerous double-dip in the East Third street paving at Brookwood school, which was endorsed by a resolution of the Hope Rotary club at last Friday's meeting, was presented to Mayor Ruff Boyett and the Hope city council in a letter by a club committee Thursday.

Pointing out that this hazard is on highway No. 67, menacing tourists on the Broadway of America who are not as familiar with the local paving as Hope residents, the letter reads as follows:

"Hon. Ruff Boyett, Mayor, and Members of the City Council:
"We, the undersigned, as a committee from the Hope Rotary club, desire to call your attention to the double-dip hazard on East Third street at Brookwood school and to present the following resolution.

"Whereas, a woman tourist from Los Angeles, Calif., was painfully injured at this place on Tuesday, June 5, by being thrown against the top of the car in which she was riding while passing through the city. Also, that this is a rather frequent occurrence and will become more frequent on account of increased tourist travel and also due to the fact that there is no sign or other means of warning to alert the traveling public of this danger.

"On account of this condition, sooner or later a fatal accident is sure to occur and cause the city much embarrassment and legal responsibility.
"Therefore, Be It Resolved, That we, as a civic organization interested in all things that will better conditions in our city, respectfully request that immediate steps be taken to remove this hazard to the traveling public as well as our local citizenship. Yours very truly, Dr. A. C. Kolb and Alex. A. Washburn, Hope Rotary Club Committee."

John Cox Heads State Druggists

Hope Pharmacist Elected at Convention in Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Ark.—(AP)—A joint convention of the Arkansas Pharmaceutical Association and the Arkansas Drug Travelers association concluded its second day's session here Wednesday with election of officers for each organization. The meeting will be continued Thursday for dissemination of code information.

John P. Cox of Hope was named president of the pharmaceutical group and Purcell Smith of Little Rock was chosen first vice-president. Other officers elected were: J. Howard Warfield, Stuttgart, second vice-president; J. K. Poch Jr., Little Rock, treasurer and Ed Brito, Little Rock, secretary and manager.

O. T. Mellon, Little Rock, was voted by acclamation to head the Drug Travelers association. He succeeded Rosecoe Compton of Fort Smith.

The first cotton bloom of the 1934 planting to be reported to The Star from Hempstead county was mailed Wednesday from Ozan by E. L. Walden. His letter, enclosing the bloom, said:

"Please find enclosed a cotton bloom. It bloomed on the 12th (Tuesday) on the J. S. Conway farm."

Bulletins

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Arkansas is over the top in the campaign to raise feed for perishing livestock in South Dakota. The drought relief committee appointed by the governor reported Thursday that by nightfall two carloads of hay would be assigned to all but two of 25 counties designated by Governor Tom Berry of South Dakota as desperately in need of food-stuffs. Approximately 50 carloads of hay and several cars of food are on the way north.

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Cotton consumed in May was reported Thursday by the Bureau of the Census to have totaled 519,765 bales lint and 62,822 bales lintless.

VENICE, Italy.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini clasped hands for the first time Thursday as both arrived here for conversations held to be vital to the future of disarmament. They were to lunch together and open discussions during the afternoon.

72 Paroled From Arkansas Prison

List Includes Odis Ward, Hempstead Burglary Prisoner

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark.—(AP)—Superintendent W. G. Stedman announced Thursday a list of 72 paroles which were granted at the last meeting of the State Penal Board.

The list includes 31 white men and five white women. All are short-term convicts except Earl Methvin, serving 20 years on a murder charge from Faulkner county.

Paroles included one for Odis Ward, Hempstead, two years for burglary. Negroes included: Charley Gill, Union county, grand larceny, one year; Mac Archer, Union, three years, for grand larceny.

Cotton Bloom Is Reported at Ozan

White House Denies It Asked Johnson to Quit Steel Parley

Meanwhile, Amalgamated Steel Workers Open Pittsburgh Convention With Threat to Strike for Union Recognition

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The White House issued a formal denial Thursday that President Roosevelt had ordered Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator, to withdraw from the steel strike negotiations.

Meanwhile a Pittsburgh convention dominated by union leaders belligerently demanding "recognition or a nation wide strike met for an hour and then recessed while the credentials of delegates were examined.

Delegates off the floor voiced the belief that only government intervention could forestall a strike.

The convention was attended by 200 delegates from over the country, representing the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

New Labor Bill
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The administration in an effort to ally strikes, handed to congress a bill built around the proposed right of the government to hold secret elections to choose workers for collective bargaining.

Administration leaders, at the request of the White House, spent Thursday in an effort to ascertain whether the bill could be passed without a controversy so prolonged as to delay congressional adjournment.

The bill was an abbreviated and amended form of the Wagner Labor disputes bill, for which the administration has been fighting.

Ballots have been returned from a mounting proportion of voters in every one of the forty-eight states in The Literary Digest poll on New Deal policies, according to this week's issue of the magazine. A new total of 875,373 ballots has been recorded. At the rate ballots are arriving, more than a million voters will have returned their ballots next week.

The vote of confidence in the Roosevelt policies has increased its lead with a new total of 534,804 "Yes" ballots. 340,569 "No" ballots express disapproval of those policies.

The President's majority ratio has been increased to 61.09 per cent of the total. That percentage represents an advance of 2.90 per cent over last week's report and of 3.77 per cent over his percentage of the popular vote in the Democratic landslide in 1932.

AS TUGWELL FACED THE SENATE'S 'FIRING SQUAD'

Defiantly answering a barrage of questions volleyed at him for four hours, Rexford Guy Tugwell emerged from a grilling before the Senate agriculture committee with his economic philosophy made clear and his status as a "dirt farmer" strengthened. Tugwell is shown at the witness table at the right, as he faced senators delving into his qualifications for undersecretary of agriculture. Left to right are Senators Arthur Capper (Rep., Kan.), George W. Norris (Rep., Neb.), Harry Byrd (Dem., Va.), and Chairman Ellison D. Smith (Dem., S. C.), the last named Tugwell's chief opponent. A gallery of 600 which witnessed the session with cheers and jeers heard Tugwell deny Communistic leanings and declare that he believes the Constitution flexible enough to take care of American economic changes.

Suspends Payment on Loans America Advanced to Her

Moratorium Declared on Both Dawes and Young Issues

SAVES 160 MILLION

British Decline to Pay Friday Whether in Goods or Cash

BERLIN, Germany.—(AP)—The government Thursday declared a moratorium on payment of the Young and Dawes loans, supplementing a previous moratorium by the Reichsbank on payment on all medium and long-term foreign obligations between July 1 and December 31.

Lutz Schwerin von Krosigk, minister of finance, announced that the payment of interest and amortization on state loans would be suspended "for the time being until further notice."

In its announcement the Reichsbank said no cash transfers would be made for the next six months' period.

Saves 160 Millions
By its latest stroke Germany will save herself approximately 400 million marks, about 160 million dollars, in foreign exchange for the second half of 1934.

There was no direct mention of either the Dawes or Young loans in the 10-page communique telling of the moratorium. Since such loans are a government affair, but it was reliably reported "there will be no excuse available for servicing such loans."

The Dawes bonds guarantee a loan issued under a plan proposed by a committee of which the former American vice-president was chairman in 1924; and the Young loans guarantee a loan made in 1930 on a plan suggested by a committee headed by Owen D. Young, head of General Electric.

The loans were floated to enable the refunding of certain reparations obligations of Germany to the Allied Powers arising from the World war.

England not to Pay
LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—Great Britain will pay nothing on her war debts installment due the United States Friday, June 15, it was stated officially Thursday.

The cabinet has not yet written a reply to Washington, but it was announced that Secretary Hull's note suggesting payments in kind (goods) did not change Britain's original decision to default.

France Defaults
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—France notified the United States Wednesday that it was not able to pay the debt installment due June 15 but was prepared to seek a new debt agreement acceptable to both countries.

In a note which administration officials regarded as more conciliatory than previous French announcements of default, that government joined Great Britain, Belgium and Czechoslovakia, which have announced they will not pay June 15.

The French note said that government recognized validity of the $3,960,772,238 war debt to the United States but because of unchanged conditions, would be unable to pay.

France is in default to the amount of $82,308,312 through refusal to make any payments since the Hoover moratorium. It has an installment of $59,000,218 falling due Friday.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

Bright Ideas Will Bloom in Drouth Relief . . . Reserves of Wheat Big Hunch . . . Mr. Truxax of Ohio Yields to No One as Martyr and Hero.

By RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—A lot of the bright ideas pent up in the minds of the AAA segment of the brain trust—which is headed by Tugwell and Wallace themselves—will come busting out as a result of the great drouth.

Don't laugh at them. Silly as they may seem, their ideas are the best ones in anybody's show window to date. Most of the alternatives are frenzied brainstorms from political hicks who have no way of knowing whether their measures will blow the recovery program sky-high—and apparently don't much care.

Faced with the possibility—but not yet the likelihood—of a food shortage, the AAA squirrel cage really began to whirl. Withering wheat crops suggest actual achievement of the crop reduction goal of a pre-war parity price and very likely return to the normal carryover of 100,000 bushels.

The question what to do next calls for heavy thinking, because everyone knows that as soon as the wheat farmer gets a nice price again he will be planting all the seed he can cram into his soil.

Of course the scheme of buying up and retreating wheat acreage now that many farmers are deserting scorched land arises at once and you'll be hearing more about it soon.

But the big idea to be pushed at once is that "wheat reserves." That means wheat stored and sealed and kept under AAA control, on the theory that by controlling such reserves you can control the whole wheat situation.

Under a planned agriculture and with expert markets lacking, it's wise to have a lot more wheat around than the normal carryover for commercial purposes so that we'll have food, feed, and seed in case of a shortage.

Obviously, this must be tied up with a readily available crop reduction program, to be yanked in again whenever wheat begins to pile too high.

One idea is to store the reserves in big federal warehouses, but Wallace and Tugwell will be too afraid of being called disloyalistic to suggest that. Farmers will be asked to store wheat on their farms under seal as in the corn loan program, money being advanced at an attractive figure, on condition that they don't sell until AAA says the word, and with the promise that they will incur no loss.

Martyr, Hero, Benefactor
Congressman-at-Large Charles V. Truxax of Bucyrus, Ohio, is a big specialist who made 26 public sales between 1913 and 1922, boasts that he has sold hogs to every state in the Union and in Canada, South America, Japan, and Australia, edited the Swine World five years, organized the first National Swine Show, and has been very prominent in national agriculture and Ohio Democratic politics.

He is campaigning for the Senate now and is extremely vocal in the House. An excerpt from a recent Truxax speech on NRA gives you an idea of what Ohio voters will be showered with by Truxax—and voters in other states by other Truxaxes.

"When it comes to answering roll calls, I yield to no member of this House," he vociferated. "When it comes to a proposition of sitting on this floor day after day, taking part in debate and fighting for the oppressed and distressed common people, I yield to no member of this House."

"When it comes to putting forth heroic efforts and giving the best there is in me for the rights of the common people, I yield to no member in a free-for-all scrap such as was witnessed here yesterday."

"No, I did not go back for political reasons. I returned for the sole purpose of participating in an event that comes but once in the life of every member of this Congress—the graduation from high school of my eldest son."

"Had I been blessed with the income and wealth of some, I might have made this round trip to Ohio upon palatial, expensive, air-conditioned trains and Pullmans."

"But not having been anointed with the wealth and income of the silk-stocking aristocracy, I made the trip in my faithful Ford, using one day, Thursday, to go to Ohio, the commencement exercises being held Thursday night, and using the next day, Friday, to drive back through a sun-baked and dust-clouded Commonwealth with prevailing temperatures of 103 degrees."

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Mothers Must Learn to Check Emotions.

"Oh, dear, I wonder why the meat doesn't come," sighed Mrs. Brown, a worried frown on her face. "That butcher! I'll leave him and go to Wetzel next."

The meat came and Mrs. Brown gave the delivery boy a piece of her mind. The children felt very sorry—for the boy.

In a few minutes their mother was singing. The telephone rang. It was bad news. A friend had been hurt in an accident.

The children gathered 'round the telephone. "Who is it? Who is hurt, mother? Don't cry! What is the matter?"

Mrs. Brown dropped into a hall chair shaking and white. "Go and get me some water, Mary. It's Mrs. Ford. Oh, I hope she'll live. Poor, poor Mrs. Ford. She was so beautiful, so kind, so good. I just can't bear it."

"Is that the Mrs. Ford that borrowed your hat and got it rained on—and you said—"

"Shut up, Patty. Shame on you. You ought to be smacked, talking that way about a poor, hurt—Oh look, look, children, there's the first rose. See—there, right outside the window. Let's go and look at it."

Relieved, they all trooped out. Mrs. Brown stopping to turn down the gas under the dinner and burning her hand with a "Darn it. I am convinced that Lizzie walked off with my polififers the day she washed."

Mary heard her. "I know where they are. They're in with the clean tea towels. She washed and ironed them. Here."

Change of Temper
"Come on, Mom," shouted William. "Come on out and see the big birds. They're all over everywhere."

"Well, I declare," beamed Mrs. Brown. "Pigeons, the dear things. I what the 'dear things' were doing, what the 'dear things' were doing, gobbling up the grass seed as fast as they could."

Oh, you robbers. Get me that stick, Bobby. Shoo! Get out, you nasty birds. No wonder I can't get a blade of grass to grow. Much flopping of wings and the enemy was gone.

"Now, come on, children. We'll let William pick the rose for the table. Where are the scissors? What! Didn't you get them, Mary? I told you to. Certainly I did. Run!"

Overdrawn? Certainly. I have put a three-act play into fifteen minutes that usually spreads out over a day.

For a day it is not greatly overdrawn. Over-emotionalism—the gamut of impatience, rage, exuberance, sentimental shock, suspicion, humiliation, unbalanced joy and spite.

Mrs. Brown was emotionally unstable, but she did not despise her. Aren't we all more or less? And yet we expect children to use control, never to get angry, never to cry, never to get excited, or gloomy or even to be too happy. Almost every one of us is emotionally unstable and what is more we express it. No one wants to kill spontaneous love, or joy or sympathy, but there is a difference.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

Select Perfumes to Suit Type

Perfume lovers are divided into two schools of thought this summer. The first insists that single flower odors, smelling like the fresh blossoms after which they are named, are best. The second declares that bouquet fragrances—polite mixtures of a variety of odors—are ideal. As for perfume fashions go, either is correct. It's up to the individual to make the decision.

Newest among the single flower odors is a wild rose perfume that smells like a bank of June roses on a hillside. It's of a rather heavy consistency, containing an oil instead of essence and producers. Upon arrival, I was glad to learn that the roll calls I missed were practically of unimportance, since . . .

DONNA GABRIEL, circus performer, falls from the trapeze and is injured. To please her partner, MADLINE SIDDAL, Donna goes to Madeline's home to recuperate, pretending to be the other girl. She is ashamed of the deception but keeps it up, even when BILL, MADLINE's cousin, asks her to marry him. Bill and Donna are married.

MRS. PLANTER, housekeeper discharged by Donna, is her enemy.

MADLINE SIDDAL, Madeline's grandmother, has a stroke. Meanwhile Madeline who has married CON GAYL, the animal trainer, is killed. Con knows of Donna's deception and decides to blackmail her. He comes to the nearby town and Donna agrees to meet him. Mrs. Planter learns of this and sends Bill an anonymous letter. When Donna returns home after meeting Con she says she has been in a neighbor's. Bill knows she has no money.

Next morning he goes to the hotel finds Con and demands an explanation of the letter. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIII

CON's surprise was genuine. "An anonymous letter?" he repeated. "I don't understand."

"Perhaps you will when you read it." Bill tossed the letter on the table. His eyes did not leave the other's face as he read the message. Then Bill asked, "What about it?"

"Well—what about it?"

"Did my wife meet you yesterday?"

Con drew a cigarette from his pocket and held a lighted match to it. "You haven't questioned her?" he asked.

"I said I came to you. Did she meet you?"

"Yes."

"Why?"

"If I were you I'd ask her."

"I'm not asking for advice but information. Why did she meet you?"

"Because I sent word for her to."

"What right have you to ask my wife to meet you secretly?"

"As good a right as you have to demand an explanation from me."

that's no idle threat! I know she's played you for a sucker and that you're innocent of the whole mess. But if you get nasty I can't too. I've kept my mouth shut but if you rile me, by God I'll drag her into court and let the devil pay the bill!"

His words staggered Bill. They were utterly incomprehensible. A scandal—yes, that would wreck his life and Madeline's. But what was this threat about court?

"You think you married a pure little ice maiden." Con went on relentlessly, his anger mounting at the scorn he read in the other's face. "So honest that—"

Bill's hand caught the neck of Con's robe. He shook the animal trainer until his teeth rattled. "That will do," he repeated. Surprised at the sudden onslaught, Con stumbled back against the wall, knocking over the suitcase bench on which rested an open valise. The contents, including a rolled document tied with blue ribbon, tumbled to the floor.

Black eyes narrowed to mere slits, Con's lips became a crimson gash in a pasty white face. "Ask her who Madeline Sidral married in Louisville before 2000 witnesses," he gasped explosively. "Ask her about the ceremony in the 'big top.' Ask her the name of the man who stood up with her!"

Revelation swept over Bill. For a second the other man's insinuations passed unheeded. Then slowly it dawned upon him that Con had said something of vital importance, something that shook the whole structure of his marriage.

"What do you mean?" he stammered.

Con flung back his head, laughing tauntingly. "Madeline Sidral married me! Get that? She married me in the arena!"

"That's a lie!"

"Is it? Here's the certificate to prove it! Ask her! Ask your lily-white bride. She can't deny it. That's why she came when I sent for her!" He stooped and snatched up the rolled paper, slipped off the ribbon and dangled the certificate before Bill's eyes. "See the names? Madeline Sidral and Conrad David!"

Bill gave a strangled cry, flung open the door and dashed down the hall.

His wife—but she wasn't his wife! She was the wife of that yellow-faced scoundrel who had known she had married another illegally and done nothing about it.

He did not see the gaunt figure at the end of the passage who stood watching him with voracious eyes and a smirking smile. When she called him by name he turned automatically, without knowing that he did so.

"Bill Sidral! It's me—Mrs. Planter. You see him?"

"What?"

"You seen that circus feller?"

"What do you know about him?"

"Everything. I sent you the letter. Did you get it? I was afraid to sign my name, but now that you know about him I don't care, I reckon everybody will be knowing now. Such things can't be kept hid. I was trying to save you. If you'd a-followed her yesterday maybe you could a-stopped talk."

He stared at her dully. It is doubtful if he heard anything she said. He was thinking of other things: his wife in a littleingham dress, sleeves rolled to the shoulder and her bare arms plunged into a flour bin; her first attempt to bake a cake; Madeline bending over Grandfather's bed, her fingers soothing the snowy hair back from an aching temple; Madeline feeding the chickens, the wind blowing through her copper curls, her cheeks flushed, her eyes sparkling.

"I KNOWN it a long time ago," continued the harsh, old voice. "Long time ago, I order have told you then, only she—the snipity chick—she said as long as I hadn't no proof she'd—"

"Proofs of what?" Bill asked thickly.

"That her and that circus feller is man and wife. Yes, they are! Let her swear till doomsday that it was the other girl he married under her name. That don't fool me! No air. My boy, Nub, sent me a handbill and it said they were to be married—Madeline and that circus feller. I showed it to her and—"

"When? Before we were married?"

"No. I had it before but I showed it to her afterward."

Bill's face darkened with passion. "You old devil!" he cried. "You keep your mouth shut about this or, so help me God, I'll kill you!"

Mrs. Planter began to snivel. "I might a-knowned that's what I'd get for my trouble! I was only tryin' to help you. That's all the thanks I get! But what should I expect of a man who'd marry his cousin—"

Bill did not wait. He tore through the office and into the street. In the sleigh he urged the horses to a speed that was reckless on snow-covered roads. He did not know what he was going to do or what he would say to the woman who had destroyed his faith, who had torn his heart into bits and crushed them. His blood was pounding against his ears and his body, bathed in perspiration, alternately shook with cold and burned with fever.

God, what an awakening from a fool's paradise! And she had insulted there had been no other man in her life before she met him!

How long would it be before he was the laughing stock of the county? Not that that mattered. It wasn't what people said or did that hurt, but the fact that Madeline and he were through. He would never hold her in his arms again, never kiss those soft red lips. Why had she married him? Had she loved him so much that—?

No, he mustn't think of that. He mustn't try to excuse her. He must crush his love for her. If he didn't he would go mad!

Flag Day
Your flag and my flag,
And how it flies today
In your land and my land
And half a world away!
Rose-red and blood-red
The stripes forever gleam;
Snow-white and soul-white—
The good forefather's dream;
Sky-blue and true-blue, with stars
To gleam and glow—
The gloried guidon of the day, a shelter
Through the night.
Your flag and my flag!
And, oh, how much it holds—
Your land and my land—
Secure within its folds!
Your heart and my heart
Beat quicker at the sight;
Sun-kissed and wind-tossed—
Red and Blue and White—
The one flag—the great flag—the flag for you and me.
Glorified all else besides—the Red and White and Blue—... Selected.

The Hope Garden club will hold their June meeting at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. M. Bryant, N. Washington St., with Dr. Elta Champlin leading.

Mrs. G. E. Graham and daughter,

Jane McRae of Three Rivers, Michigan, and Mrs. Taylor Stuart of Hot Springs arrived Wednesday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. K. G. McRae.

Mrs. P. D. Smith and Mrs. R. A. Boyett, who have spent the past few days with relatives and friends left Thursday for their home in Dallas.

The Clara Lowthorp chapter, U. D. C., held their regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Miss Mary Haynes on West Second St. The chapter president, Miss Frances Snyder opened the meeting. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. During the business period Miss Lenora Routon told of her visit with Mrs. C. S. Lowthorp, Arkansas division president, to the state meeting of Children's chapters held recently in Helena. A Jefferson Davis memorial constituted the program, with Miss Claudia Whitworth giving a very interesting sketch of the life of Jefferson Davis and Miss Evelyn Bryant dwelling on the last six months of his imprisonment. Mrs. Lowthorp, division president, and Mrs. R. T. White, sponsor, were appreciated guests. The hostess assisted by her mother, Mrs. Chas. Haynes served delicious sandwiches with fruit punch to 22 members and two visitors.

Mrs. Brents McPherson and little daughter, Patsy Jane, who have been the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Don Smith for the past several days left Wednesday for their home in Little Rock.

A pretty party of this week was the bridge party given Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. H. C. Whitworth at her home on South Elm St. The rooms were bright with a colorful arrangement of lovely summer flowers including sweet peas and yellow cosmos. Bridge was played from seven tables, with the favors going to Mrs. Tom Wardlow, Mrs. Arthur Swankie and Mrs. Joe Smith. At the conclusion of the game, the hostess served a most tempting salad plate.

Mrs. B. C. Hyatt has returned from several days visit with relatives in Monticello.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Eason and two daughters, Virginia Louise and Wanda Marie of Wellington, Kansas, arrived Wednesday for a few days' visit with Mr. Eason's mother, Mrs. M. V. Scoles and family.

Mrs. Ched Hall and Miss Annie Allen left Thursday morning for Batesville where they will attend a Women's Bible Conference of the Presbyterian church.

The Rev. J. Emmett Moore of Memphis, Tennessee has been called to the pulpit of the First Christian church of this city. The Rev. Mr. Moore will arrive in Hope Friday or Saturday and will occupy the pulpit at the morning and evening hours. All members are urged to attend and visitors are welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Robison and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Collier spent Sunday in Hot Springs with Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Robison.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Mobley of Shreveport are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Collier. Mr. Mobley is stationed at Barksdale field in that city.

Mrs. Marian Mobley and daughter, Peggy Joe, of Pine Bluff, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Collier.

ROOSEVELT'S VOTE

with the general poll. The ballots returned by the bankers make up one signed to test the views prevalent in well-defined business, professional, and social classes. 21,320 bankers have already returned their ballots in this special-group poll. Most of those bankers had previously received ballots in the general poll.

Bankers' ballots recorded separately make it clear that American bankers "on the whole" are against the President's policies. The special poll of the bankers shows:

"Yes"	10,045	"No"	11,275
-------	--------	------	--------

The banker "Noes" lead by 1,230 and show pluralities in thirty-one of the forty-seven states sheared from. Some of the states that have returned the strongest popular vote for Roosevelt show the strongest banker majorities against the New Deal policies. The Roosevelt policies have received 61.09 per cent of the ballots in the general poll of American citizens and only 47.12 per cent of the American banker ballots.

Flying Boat Falls, Causing Death of 5

Pan-American Ship Meets Disaster in Argentina Lake

JUNIN, Argentina.—(AP)—Five persons, including four from the United States, were killed Monday and six injured when a Pan-American Grace Airways plane, flying from Buenos Aires to Santiago, Chile, plunged into Mar Chiquita, a small lake near here.

For four hours the survivors clung to the wings of the plane before they were rescued by a launch laboriously dragged to the obscure lake from this city.

The plane, two hours out of Buenos Aires, was fighting its way through fog and rain squalls.

Farmers on the shore of the little lake said they heard an explosion overhead. The machine, not completely out of control, made a sharp dive into the lake, striking the surface hard.

No boats were available at the lake, and farmers came on horseback to report the accident to authorities here. Police loaded a launch on a truck for a several mile journey to the lake. Although the crash occurred before noon it was mid-afternoon before the launch came to the rescue, and the survivors suffered seriously from exposure.

Film Comedian Is Sued for Divorce

Slim Somerville Accused by Wife of Stepping Out at Night

LOS ANGELES.—(AP)—Because she says, "Slim" Somerville carries his romancing from the screen into real life, his wife sought a $3000 a month allowance in a separate maintenance action Tuesday.

The film comedian "visited other women in Mexican and mountain resorts," Gertrude M. Somerville charged in her action, and gave "cash gifts totaling $2000" to an unnamed Hollywood woman.

She said the actor, whose real name is George J. Somerville, is capable of earning $100,000 a year and their community property is worth $100,000. In addition to the $3000 a month for support of herself and their two and a half year old son she asked $5000 attorneys fees.

The couple was married November 21, 1927, and separated last January.

growing, morning papers are dying. These figures may interest you, taken from the 1934 catalog of Editor & Publisher, newspaper trade journal:

In the 11 years from 1922 to 1933 the week-day morning papers of the United States declined from 426 to 378—a drop of 11.2 per cent.

In the same period Sunday-morning papers dropped from 546 to 506—a decline of 7.3 per cent.

Evening papers over those same 11 years shrank from 1,607 to 1,533—a drop of only 4.6 per cent.

America chooses the evening paper because it gives most of the wire news and practically all of the local news first to city subscribers, and meets out-of-town morning papers virtually on even terms on the rural routes next day.

Built Up Strength By Taking Cardui

Here's her own account of how Mrs. T. W. Hardin, of Greer, S. C., was benefited by taking Cardui: "I suffered a great deal from weakness in my back and pains in my side and felt so miserable," she writes. "I read of Cardui and decided to try it. I felt better after I took my first bottle, so kept on taking it as I felt such a need of strength, and it helped me so much."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit you, consult a physician.

11-Year-Old Girl Sues Stepmother

Accuses New Bride of Ousting Mother From the Home

ATLANTA, Ga.—(P)—A suit against a stepmother asking damages for alienation of her father's affections was filed here Tuesday by Martha Louise Brigwell, 11.

The suit charged Mrs. Justine Mitchell Bridwell, a bride of three days, was responsible for the father, Max M. Bridwell, abandoning his first wife, Mrs. Louise Bridwell, and his daughter and asking damages of $10,000.

The petition said Martha Louise, who has just finished the fifth grade in school, enjoyed the love, affection and support of her father until she was five years old. Then, the suit says, the second Mrs. Bridwell caused him to abandon his family.

Martha Louise's mother was granted an uncontested divorce in 1933.

Bridwell and his bride are on a honeymoon.

HOW WOMEN CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN

The Favor of Other Men

Unless two pints of bile juice flow daily from your liver, your bowels, your food digests in your bowels. This poisons your entire body. Symptoms get hard and constipated. You get yellow tongue, yellow skin, pimples, dull eyes, bad breath, bad taste, gas, distress, headache. You have become an ugly-looking, foul-smelling, sour-smelling person. You have lost your personal charm. Everybody wants to run from you.

Don't take salts, mineral waters, oils, laxative pills, laxative candles or chewing gums and expect them to get rid of this poison that destroys your personal charm. They can't do it, for they only move out the tail end of your bile juice and that doesn't take away enough of the diseased poison. Constipation won't help at all. Only a free flow of your bile juice will stop this decomposition in your bowels. This is the only veritable medicine which starts a free flow of your bile juice in Carter's Little Liver Pills. No calomel (mercury) in Carter's. No opium, no other harmful extracts. If you would bring back your personal charm to win men, start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills according to directions today. 25¢ at drug stores.

Suit on El Dorado Sheriff Dismissed

County Takes Appeal, However, to Recover $17,000 Overpayment

EL DORADO, Ark.—Three suits for recovery of more than $17,000 from former Sheriff John W. Harnau, alleged to have been retained by him over and above the $5,000 annually allowed by law during the three years he was in office, were dismissed for want of equity by Chancellor George M. Leeroy Tuesday.

Chancellor Leeroy held that the items of receipts and expenditures as shown by the former sheriff in his annual report were admitted to be fair and reasonable, and that their legality had been approved by a jury in Circuit Court.

As to the matter of receipts of the office for feeding federal prisoners and fees for issuing state auto license tags which were not included in the sheriff's first report and on which the suits were based, Leeroy held that the receipts had been shown in the audit of county books and were available before the court at the time of the hearing. He said that the sheriff was the judge of the manner in which the office should be conducted and of the number of deputies needed and the salaries to be paid them and that he would be given the benefit of any doubt in the matter.

Attorneys for the state and county excepted to the judgment and sought an appeal to the Supreme Court, which was granted.

A Good Permanent Pasture

Here is part of a ten acre experimental pasture on the University of Arkansas, College of Agriculture, Fruit and Truck Branch Experiment Station, near Hope. During seven months in 1933, the third year after the pasture was started on poor hillside land, beef cattle made gains averaging 316 pounds per acre, which when figured at three cents per pound is equivalent to a return of $9.48 per acre. This pasture has a combination of bur clover, hop clover, dallis grass, bermuda and tespedeza, which normally affords grazing from March until November. This experiment and many others embracing fruit, truck and field crops will be shown visitors on annual visiting day at the Hope experiment station on Friday, June 29. People throughout the state are invited to attend this well planned all-day program.

Processing Taxes Applied to Sugar

Retailers and Wholesalers Warned to File Inventory With U. S.

All retailers of certain articles processed wholly or partly from sugar beets and sugar cane held for sale or other disposition on the first moment of June 8, 1934, should take an inventory as of that date and keep a record of all articles received during the period June 8, 1934 to July 8, 1934, inclusive, and pay tax at rate prescribed by regulations on such articles which are not sold or otherwise disposed of on July 8, 1934.

All wholesalers are required to pay tax on all articles processed wholly or partly from sugar beets and sugar cane held for sale or other disposition on June 8, 1934.

Request should be made to Homer M. Adkins, Collector of Internal Revenue, Little Rock, Ark., for forms to make returns and they must be filed on or before August 7, 1934. These forms will be mailed as soon as possible from the Little Rock office, and inquiries relative to this tax should be addressed to the collector.

Below is a list of taxable articles which will be affected by this law:

Beet sugar and other direct-consumption sugar (including granulated sugar, lump sugar, cube sugar, powdered sugar, sugar in the form of blocks, cones or any other moulded shape, and confectioners' sugar) testing by the polariscope 99.8 sugar degrees or above.

Direct-consumption sugar (including washed sugar, centrifugal sugar, clarified sugar, turbinade, plantation white sugar, and muscovado sugar) testing by the polariscope:

Not less than 99 degrees, but less than 99.80.

Not less than 97, but less than 98.

Not less than 96, but less than 97.

Direct-consumption sugar (including washed sugar, centrifugal sugar, clarified sugar, turbinade, plantation white sugar, and muscovado sugar) testing by the polariscope less than 96 degrees, refiners' soft sugar, sugar mixtures, and invert sugar, invert syrup or invert mush. (Subject to tax according to total sugar content.)

Syrups of cane juice and edible molasses. (Subject to tax according to total sugar content.)

Birmingham Asks for Receivership

Officials Charged With Squandering Tax Funds in Politics

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—(P)—A receivership for the city of Birmingham, with removal of the City Commission, was asked in a petition filed in Jefferson Circuit Court Tuesday on behalf of five creditors of the municipality.

The petition set forth that the five sugar: (Not subject to tax on floor stocks)

(1) Articles containing sugar other than syrup or redible molasses. (Subject to tax according to total sugar content.)

(2) Articles containing syrup or edible molasses. (Subject to tax according to total sugar content.)

The moon's closest approach to the earth is 216,423 miles, from surface to surface.

plaintiffs, Mrs. Clara E. Martin, C. M. Jackson, Effie Brown Banks, William A. Goolsby and Peter A. Lawr, held judgments against the city that they could not collect. The city of Birmingham as a corporation, J. M. Jones Jr., W. O. Downs and Lewey Robinson, commissioners, were named defendants.

Commissioners Downs and Robinson said the suit for an ouster and receivership was nothing but "politics."

The petition charges the commissioners have admitted to lawyers that the city is insolvent. The petitioners charge the commissioners with extravagance, inefficiency, diverting funds and failure to provide a fund from which judgments against the city can be paid.

The commissioners were charged with using city funds to "buy themselves and other employees expensive automobiles," and illegally expending "money for trips to far away places of different officials."

Texas Outlaw Condemned by Jury After Three Hours

HUNTSVILLE, Texas.—(AP)—Raymond Hamilton, Texas No. 1 bad man, was convicted and sentenced to die by a Walker county jury on Wednesday night for the slaying of Major Crowson, prison guard.

The jury deliberated three hours before returning the verdict.

Crowson, a guard at the Eastham state prison farm, was wounded fatally when Hamilton and four others were liberated in a delivery January 16, allegedly engineered by Clyde Barrow.

The state several times previously had sought to send Hamilton to the

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep... Vigor... Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes of filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up at night, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness. If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS. . . . A doctor's prescription . . . which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS, the old reliable relief that contains no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934. Foster-Milburn Co.

Principal witnesses against Niven before the Grand Jury today were Mrs. Vivian Higgins, Miss Dorothea Smith and Helen Spillars, roomers on the third floor of the Second and Main street building where the shooting occurred. Previously they had told officers that the shooting followed a street fight between Niven and Mead earlier in the afternoon.

Prosecuting Attorney E. W. Brockman indicated that he would demand the death penalty. He will bring Niven to trial at the earliest possible date. While feeling has been high here since the killing it is not feared that any outbreak will result.

Niven is in the county jail, where he was placed about an hour after the shooting after he had called Sheriff Garland Brewster to his father's home and surrendered.

Previously they had told officers that the shooting followed a street fight between Niven and Mead earlier in the afternoon.

Prosecuting Attorney Brockman said the witnesses told him that after the fight that Mead had been threatened by Niven and that a short time later, after Mead had gone to the police station and asked for protection, Niven went to Mead's room. Niven had a gun in his hand when he went into Mead's room, the prosecutor said. The witnesses told him. They said that when they went into Mead's room they saw Niven pointing the gun at Mead, who was down on his knees begging Niven not to shoot him.

The Bright Star home demonstration club, composed of 16 members met Thursday, May 30, at the home of Mrs. Davidson.

The demonstration on how to make cheese, laundry and toilet soap was given by Miss Helen Griffin. Next meeting will be on the fourth Thursday in June and will be at the home of Mrs. Earl Thompson.

Although the chief object of the meeting will be the making and testing of several kinds of jellies, some time may be spent in sewing.

Mitchell Quits Prosecutor Race

Prescott Man Expects to Run for Lieutenant-Governor in '36

LITTLE ROCK.—Senator Lawrence L. Mitchell of Prescott, one of the five candidates for prosecuting attorney in the Eighth Judicial district, announced here Wednesday that he has withdrawn from the race so that he will be in a position to seek nomination for lieutenant governor two years hence.

Senator Mitchell said he reached that decision after conferring with friends and supporters here Wednesday, following preliminary conferences at the Bar Association meeting at Hot Springs. His four-year term as senator from the Twentieth district, composed of Hempstead and Nevada counties, will expire with the general election in November. He served as Nevada county judge four years before being elected to the senate.

Candidates for prosecuting attorney in the Eighth circuit remaining in the race are: Senator R. L. Stewart, of Lewisville, Representative C. R. Rule of Clark county, former Prosecutor Steve Carrigan of Hope and John Vescey of Hope.

Enters Lions' Den on Bet; Is Killed

English Gunman Torn to Pieces on Wager of 25 Cents

WHIPSADE, Eng.—(AP)—The story of how Stanley Stenson, who a few years ago was one of London's rare gun-toting robbers, lost his life in a lion's den as the result of a one-shilling bet was revealed at a coroner's inquest Wednesday.

The inquest held within hearing of the roars and cries of animals in the open air zoo, which was the scene of the tragedy, resulted in the verdict of death by "misadventure" at the claws of the lions.

Stenson died, the jury held, from the mauling and tearing of two lions who fought for possession of him, while would-be rescuers tried to pull him away from the jaws of their pit, rather than from the 16-foot fall into the den.

Horace Myhill said that Stenson offered to bet a shilling (about 25 cents) that he could retrieve a hat from the open air pit and that he (Myhill) then threw in his hat. Then, he said, Stenson went to the top of the inside railing around the pit and the lions seized him.

"When he was caught, I went in and grabbed him by the right hand," continued Myhill. "I clung to him for 22 minutes while the lions pulled at him. When I went back over the side of the railing he fell in and there was a terrible roaring and turmoil."

Myhill denied that Stenson asked that he be shot to end his misery.

Kingfish Ignores Louisiana Rebels

New Orleans Denies Charge That Meeting Was Drunken Brawl

BATON ROUGE, La.—(AP)—To all outward appearances, Tuesday night's citizen mass meeting threats of force against legislative passage of the state administration's proposed "tax shifting" program fell on deaf ears of Senator Huey P. Long, political "kingfish," and his governor, Oscar K. Allen.

But the state senate Wednesday took notice of the threats of thousands of citizens who demanded that no new taxes except a tax on liquor be enacted and that the government retrench and take a stand for political "honesty."

Debate flared in the senate between Senator Coleman Lindsey, administration floor leader, and Senator Paul Chazez, of New Orleans, but after each had had his say, members turned the body to other business.

In Washington, Senator Long remarked that the opposition would need "something besides votes, because they can't get the votes."

Asked for comment Wednesday, Governor Allen replied: "I have nothing to say about it."

Lindsey charged that the mass meeting was "a disgrace to Louisiana and an insult to this legislature."

He charged that the demonstration was one of "drunken jobholders" and said he had been told that "bar-maids" served whisky on the train bringing a New Orleans delegation to the meeting.

The charges were denied by several citizens of New Orleans who made the trip on special trains and an apology was demanded of Lindsey by Senator Chazez.

"I cannot allow this attack on the ladies and gentlemen of New Orleans," declared Chazez.

Lindsey challenged Mayor George W. Hardy of Shreveport to "tie the first knot" in the hempen rope which the mayor, a speaker of last night, warned might be necessary to restore decency in the state.

Speakers at the mass meeting charged that Governor Allen had to take "dictation" from Senator Long on all administration decisions and called upon Allen to "repudiate your master."

First Cancer Spot Is Size of Quarter

Medical Association Declares Treatment Is Improving

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—(AP)—Solution of the cancer problem is in sight; the facts to reduce its death toll are already known, the American Medical Association was told Wednesday.

The weakness of cancer has been found, a spot about the size of a quarter, appearing in many of the most serious types of this scourge. It still is largely unrecognized. It leads to cancer and almost sure death, yet if treated in time there will be no cancer.

"There are enough known facts," said William Carpenter McCarty, M. D. of Rochester, Minn., "if they were properly and extensively applied, to solve the cancer problem."

"Cancer in my opinion is a simple problem although we may never know the various specific causes and find no specific cure. It is a problem of health in general, external and internal cleanliness and heredity. It is, insofar as the profession is concerned, a problem of prevention which

U.S. May Purchase a Million Bales

Deal in Cotton Suggested to Provide Clothes for Needy

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Representative Jere Cooper, Democrat, Tennessee, and Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, conferred Wednesday on a cotton purchase program for the needy which may result in governmental buying of 1,000,000 bales. Cooper said Hopkins had assured him the cotton purchase was being carefully considered and that indications were a large quantity of the staple could be used.

"I have discussed the matter several times with Hopkins," Cooper said. "I believe he will do everything in his power to carry out the plan."

He said the 1,000,000-bale figure has been mentioned frequently in the discussions.

The plan includes the buying of the cotton at the market price and arrangements with textile mills and other manufacturing establishments to process it into blankets, mattresses and other supplies for the needy.

Communities throughout the country are being encouraged by the Relief Administration to establish factories in which clothing for the needy may be manufactured by persons now unemployed. However, the administration is not setting up such plants.

WOMAN 92 YEARS OLD

Has Used 'Mendenhall's' Chill Tonic Over 30 Years

Agnes Rendlemen, Alto Pass, Ill., dictates the following letter to her grand-daughter, Agnes Gunn, a registered pharmacist:

"I am 92 years old, mother of eight children, all living. Have used Mendenhall's Malaria Chill and Fever Tonic over thirty years for Malaria, Chills and Fever, Constipation, and as a general tonic. Also for Colds and Coughs due to colds. It has its place in our medicine chest all the year around."

NOTE: We make Mendenhall's Malaria Chill and Fever Tonic in two forms— with and without arsenic. As to the value of our Chill Tonic with arsenic, we quote from the U. S. Dispensary: "Arsenic is the most successful agent in the treatment of chronic malaria, malarial or bilious fever, intermittent fever or chills, brow-ache, headache, neuralgia or rheumatism due to malaria or general bad health. It increases the appetite and digestion, weight and strength of the patient, and has great power to improve the condition of the blood. It is one of the few substances which deserve the name of a general tonic."

But the state senate Wednesday took notice of the threats of thousands of citizens who demanded that no new taxes except a tax on liquor be enacted and that the government retrench and take a stand for political "honesty."

Debate flared in the senate between Senator Coleman Lindsey, administration floor leader, and Senator Paul Chazez, of New Orleans, but after each had had his say, members turned the body to other business.

In Washington, Senator Long remarked that the opposition would need "something besides votes, because they can't get the votes."

Asked for comment Wednesday, Governor Allen replied: "I have nothing to say about it."

Lindsey charged that the mass meeting was "a disgrace to Louisiana and an insult to this legislature."

He charged that the demonstration was one of "drunken jobholders" and said he had been told that "bar-maids" served whisky on the train bringing a New Orleans delegation to the meeting.

The charges were denied by several citizens of New Orleans who made the trip on special trains and an apology was demanded of Lindsey by Senator Chazez.

"I cannot allow this attack on the ladies and gentlemen of New Orleans," declared Chazez.

Lindsey challenged Mayor George W. Hardy of Shreveport to "tie the first knot" in the hempen rope which the mayor, a speaker of last night, warned might be necessary to restore decency in the state.

Speakers at the mass meeting charged that Governor Allen had to take "dictation" from Senator Long on all administration decisions and called upon Allen to "repudiate your master."
